

What is the impact of our work on teachers' confidence in teaching the arts?

The charts below illustrate the progress of two schools in improving teaching the arts as a result of working with Insight Arts. The information shows the results of a survey of teacher confidence taken at the beginning of a CPD project compared with the same survey taken at the end.

You will note that the yellow and green areas show how teachers' confidence has improved over time while the reductions in orange and red show how teachers are confident at teaching independently.

School B

